MOSCOW, Jan. 13.—Russian forces in a powerful thrust southward from Velikie Luki, have advanced to within 25 miles of Smolensk, anchor point of the German defence system on the central front, dispatches reported today.

Correspondents of the official Tass News Agency reported that Soviet forces had captured Smolensk, 25 miles north of Smolensk. Smolensk is nearly 100 miles south-east of Velikie Luki, major rail point in the Caucasus, 100 miles south-east of Rostov.

Last Train From Berlin

By Howard K. Smith

INSTANTLY UNWASHED AND WASHED OUT

TO SEE Berlin, you take a walk. To see the people you take a subway. You also smell them. There is not enough time nor enough coaches, for coaches to be properly cleaned and ventilated every day, so the odor of stale sweat from bodies that work hard, and have only a cube of soap big as a penny box of matches left to wash with for a month, lingers in their interiors and is reinforced quantitatively until it changes for the worse qualitatively as time and war proceed. In summer, it is asphyxiating and this is no figure of speech.

H. K. SMITH Dozens of people, whose stomachs and bodies are not around anyhow faint in them every day. Sometimes you just have to get out at some station halfway to your destination to take a breath of fresh air between trains.

People's faces are pale, unhealthily white as flour, except for red rims around their eyes. One would need to get accustomed to their faces after awhile and find them almost natural but for the fact that soldiers ride the subway trains too, and one notices the marked contrast between young men who eat food with their hands in it and live out of doors part of the time, and the uncleaned and unperfumed faces of those who work in shops and factories from ten to twelve hours a day.

From lack of vitamins in food teeth are decaying fast and obviously. Dentists are severely overworked as most of them must spend half their time working for the army, and the rest of it in doubled private practice in the rest of the time. This winter there has been the most severe epidemic of colds in Berlin in many winters, and doctors predict a very bad year for the year and probably as some dangerous proportion of something cannot be done about food and clothing, especially shoes which are wearing out fast.

ILL-HUMORED
Weary, and not good in health, Berliners are also, and consequently ill-humored. This is an old statement; they have become more "tender." All lines are down point downwards. I can recommend no more effective remedy for this.

LONDON, Jan. 13. A smashing Allied aerial offensive which has destroyed or damaged 51 Axis planes in 24 hours indicated today that the United Nations were approaching the hour when they would start the big push to drive the enemy out of North Africa.

German communication lines and airports all the way from Tripoli to Crete were under severe pressure by Allied pilots with Flying Fortresses playing a major role in the aerial offensive.

These were the results announced at Allied headquarters in North Africa and the middle eastern command at Cairo today.

Second Group Steel Workers Vote to Strike

By The Canadian Press
Canada's steel production was faced today with the threatened walkout of 5,000 workers, which would raise to 10,000 the number of men in two widely-separated plants.

Members of the United Steel Workers Union (U.S.W.) at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., voted at a meeting last night at strike Thursday at the huge plant of the Algoma Steel Corporation. Their action followed the early-day walkout yesterday of employees of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation at Sault Ste. Marie.

Meanwhile, the Dominion government moved toward conciliation of the workers with the dispatch of two labor department officials to confer with company and union officials. H. C. Pettigrew, of Montreal, N.B., is going to Sydney and D. B. Chan, of Ottawa is being sent to Sault Ste. Marie.

An Editorial What Ruml Plan Means to You

There is a reasonable likelihood that the Ruml plan of taxation may be adopted in Canada at the forthcoming session of Parliament. The commissioner of income tax has reported favorably on the device and public opinion has warmly supported it.

What does the Ruml Plan mean to you? Why is it important that you should urge its adoption with all the influence at your command?

The Ruml Plan is neither complex nor difficult. It is simply a pay-as-you-go plan wherein income taxes, derived at their sources, are credited to the current period instead of allowing a lag of eight months as in Canada's present system of income tax collection.

The Ruml Plan proposes that the tax due on the period that is in arrears should be cancelled, so that every Canadian would pay taxes on immediately current income.

The plan is essentially practical and logical. Any increase or lowering of the levy becomes immediately effective. Thus, the income tax can be adjusted more readily, not only to the current fiscal requirements of the government, but to the ability of the people to pay.

The taxpayer pays on what he has, not on what he had. And it is conceivable that there might be a tremendous difference between the two.

The hardship that falls on the salaried man who is not paid is avoided. There is no need for him to pay on a salary out of army pay.

Those who lose part of their income through ill-health, those who retire from active duties to live on a reduced income and the families of those who die are all relieved, under the Ruml Plan, of a burden which compels them to pay on a taxable income which, in all these cases, no longer exists at the time it must be paid.

Taxation under the Ruml Plan is reduced to the simple minimum of painlessness. It causes the taxpayer to live within his income.

The proposal to wipe out the income tax debt on the period which is in arrears which, in Canada, in eight months, will relieve every Canadian of a burden of tax debt which frequently is not compatible with his current income. In short, the taxes of everyone would be adjusted to his immediate ability to pay.

Nor does the national treasury stand to lose through the cancellation of eight months' taxes. It is not the same as a private debt.

If Jones owes a hundred dollars to Smith and Smith cancels the debt, the one hundred dollars ceases to be an asset to Smith. It is gone. But the relative position of the finance department and the taxpayer is different.

The government may forgive a tax debt. But the taxpayer is still an asset to the government. He is always within reach. And if the projected cancellation of eight months income taxes should cause a temporary shortage in the national treasury, the government can always balance that shortage by adjusting the levy on future income.

That, of course, is the crux of the Ruml Plan. It sets up no tax debt which, like all other debt, is a crushing and stultifying influence.

The Ruml Plan is a sane, intelligent and logical solution to the paying of our income taxes.

Likes Army Fine Troopship 'Another Bronco' To Wetaskiwin Buckaroo

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Jan. 13.—(CP)—Sgt. G. D. Woods of Wetaskiwin, Alta., was told when he climbed aboard a troopship here that the Atlantic crossing would be like riding a bronco, but that rugged member of the forestry corps only grinned. Safe arrival of the convoy in Britain was announced yesterday.

"I don't want to be a soldier," retorted, leaving the sailor who had tried to "put his wings" looking more than a bit mystified.

"That's Wood's real line," a pal explained, adding, "that guy was good when he was young."

Woods told how for many years he followed the roads through western Canada and the United States.

QUARTERMASTER UP
"I had to quit when I got busted up," he said, pointing to the other side that jutted higher than the other.

"I was busted up when I was in the context instead of me."

After that, the sailor who was in Wetaskiwin, but when the war came he enlisted in the Forestry Corps.

"I like it fine," he said, "but it's not as much fun as broncho riding. Riding a horse is a lot more fun."

"I was a sergeant, said he was married and had two children. "No," he said, "guess neither one takes after me."

Food Produced On Prairies at Record Levels

REGINA, Jan. 13.—(CP)—Helen James G. Gardner, federal minister of agriculture, said last night more tons of food were produced in the prairie provinces in the past four years than ever at any time in the history of the Dominion.

"The fact is achieved, he said, with less labor on the farm than before the war."

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Legislative Council, she said that at the beginning of the fourth year of the war we are asking prairie farmers to double their efforts and turn out an unprecedented amount of food.

FEWER WORKERS
He said that when the war began there were approximately 1,200,000 men on farms in western Canada.

Today, he said, there are only 800,000 men on farms in western Canada, but the output has increased by 50 per cent.

Forms Squadron Early Call-Up Of Youths, 18, Is Not Likely

By FRANK FLAHERTY
OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service, announced yesterday that a downward extension of the age classes liable for compulsory military service is contemplated.

"It has been decided not to call 18-year-olds at this time," Mr. MacNamara said. "The government is waiting to see what happens in the future."

Recently 19-year-olds were made subject to the call-up and now are being drafted into the army. Since 18-year-olds are subject to call in the United States and since plans for the Canadian army during 1943 have not yet been stated, there has been considerable speculation over the possibility of calling Canadians of that age.

CALL MAY BE MEN
The last extension of the call-up made men married prior to July 15, 1940, who are between the ages of 19 and 25, liable to be called.

As the call-up regulations now stand, a single man, who is not married, is not liable to be called.

Meanwhile the Selective Service Commission is attempting to complete the call-up of 18-year-olds who were born between 1924 and 1930.

Between the ages of 19 and 20 who were born between 1923 and 1924 are being called.

A recent proclamation all such men are required to report by January 15, 1943, to the nearest local office of Selective Service.

This procedure, which aims at a re-registration of all men aged 18 to 25, is being completed by the end of the year.

Stalked Big Battleship Yank Destroyer Snared in Trap Fought Jap Warships to Finish

By FRANK FLAHERTY
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—(AP)—During a sea battle in the Solomon Islands on Nov. 12-13, a Japanese battleship came crashing through the darkness, her engines driving her at a speed of close to 25 knots. In her path was the U.S.S. Laffey, the first of a new series of swift destroyers.

The master of the Laffey, W. E. Hark, and crew were a few minutes earlier had silenced the guns of a Japanese cruiser, but this was bigger game.

The Laffey, rocketed straight at the enemy battleship, her engines racing at "emergency full."

When the range was right, Hark ordered the Laffey to open fire. It was clear that with both ships headed at full steam for the same prize yard of ocean, the destroyer was going to be there first, but by now signs of the battleship were apparent.

Every man held his breath. The navy report said that "as the smoke cleared the target was only 100 feet. That the racing Laffey was within 100 yards of the battleship."

Then the Laffey's four five-inch guns were turned on the battleship. The enemy battleship was hit on the bridge. The bridge was completely off the ship.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Modern wrestling, the "rough duckling" of professional sports, provides the rugged-and-tumble tactics so necessary in hand-to-hand contacts with the enemy, according to Rudy Dusek.

We encountered Dusek last night in a cold, bleak dressing room beneath St. Nick's arena, where he had performed in one of the show's feature events.

Dusek, a middle-sized man with a prominent nose and a concrete floor, ailed Dusek to himself vigorously after his shower before climbing into his clothes.

Many Albertans Thousands of Canadians Land in Great Britain

By ALAN RANDAL
A BRITISH PORT, Jan. 13.—(CP)—New thousands of reinforcements for the Canadian army overseas and for the R.C.A.F. have landed at this British port happy and cheerful at reaching the United Kingdom and anxious to complete their training and get into action.

It was the second large contingent to arrive from Canada in three weeks. The announcement of the arrival was greeted with security reasons and by now the troops have been at their reception centres for some time.

Army units formed the majority of the movement which included a large detachment of R.C.A.F. personnel and men from the combined training operation. Included also was a group of Royal Canadian Navy men returning from leave in Canada.

QUIET CROSSING
The Atlantic crossing was said to have been uneventful and free from enemy interference. One detachment of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and Royal Canadian Artillery personnel from training centres in Manitoba was involved in the crossing. A train wreck at Montreal, Ont. they officers spoke with pride of the assistance the men gave to injured civilians, singling out particularly P. O. W. White of Winnipeg.

"White was wonderful," said L. R. O. Bibber of Saskatoon. "There was no need of anything telling him what to do. He just went ahead and fixed up the injured people."

Others mentioned the performance of the Canadian troops in the work were Privates J. A. Bragg of Edmonton, Christian of Calgary, and J. McFarlane of Winnipeg.

Said Dangerous
CALGARY, Jan. 13.—(CP)—The crown's case against the British Legion, Ltd., charged with criminal negligence as a result of an explosion at the firm's factory on Oct. 31, 1941, in which 29 miners lost their lives, was completed in criminal court here yesterday.

When C. S. Blanchard, crown prosecutor said that the case against the British Legion, Ltd., charged with criminal negligence as a result of an explosion at the firm's factory on Oct. 31, 1941, in which 29 miners lost their lives, was completed in criminal court here yesterday.

TO ASK DOWNSIDE
M. M. Porter, C.M. defence counsel, stated he would apply for a dismissal of the charge, but that he first wanted time to fully prepare his case.

One of the witnesses called by the crown on Tuesday was Dr. H. H. Boomer, professor in the chemistry department at University of Alberta, who testified for the defence.

Before Dr. Boomer finished his testimony, Chief Justice Hughes called it to a halt.

Other witnesses previously testified that miners who had been working in the fourth level of the mine at the time of the explosion, had been absorbed by the crown, but that they were working in the fourth level of the mine at the time of the explosion.

Dr. Boomer said that by theory a theory that the explosion was caused by a gas leak, but that he believed it was caused by a gas leak, but that he believed it was caused by a gas leak.

VIEW OF JUSTICE
"It is impossible to find there was an explosion on the fourth level," Chief Justice Hughes stated.

There was an ignition of some kind, that means there was gas there. Why was the gas there? If I could find out the cause of the explosion, I could find out the cause of the explosion.

Dr. Boomer also said that the explosion was caused by a gas leak, but that he believed it was caused by a gas leak, but that he believed it was caused by a gas leak.

Also called as an expert witness was James Cummer, Calgary, and Drumheller, a former manager of the British Legion, Ltd., who testified for the defence.

He stated he believed ventilation facilities in the fourth level of the mine were inadequate.

"As far as you are concerned, is it a dangerous system?" asked Mr. Porter.

"It is an inefficient system," he replied. "It is a dangerous system."

Asked if the system used in the fourth level was a classical one, he replied, "No, it is not a classical one."

"Do you say it is a dangerous system?" asked Mr. Porter.

"Yes," he replied.

Distance and Opposition To Be Overcome

Many Paths to Japan but All Present Difficulties

Dolores Moran — born in Stockton, California, fifteen years ago—has that rare combination, beauty and brains. Within a period of three months she was Queen of the Butte County (Calif.) Fair and winner of the Northern California Oratorical Contest. She was emceeing at the Elks' Picnic at Sacramento when the movie scout spied her with the enviable result of a long term Warner contract. She attends the school house on the home lot, and when her studies are over for the day she goes through a modern tap dancing routine. She winds up the day with a vocal workout. She hopes one day to combine her singing with her acting on the screen. She weighs 123 pounds, is five feet seven, and as blonde as they come. She has appeared in support of James Cagney in "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

An easy (on the eyes) way of saving material is demonstrated by Grace MacDonald, who introduces the 'chute suit'.

Duke of R.C.M.P.

This year-old white Alsatian is known on the official rolls of the R.C.M.P. as Police Dog "Duke." Mounted use dogs extensively in Western Canada and the far north, but "Duke" is the only animal stationed in Ontario. He makes his headquarters on the Six Nations Indian reserve near Brantford. An expert tracker, "Duke" is used chiefly to find persons lost in the bush, or to hunt escaped criminals. Around his neck he wears a red flag to identify him to hunters in the woods, who otherwise might take him for a wolf.

Many are the military paths to the heart of Japan, but each presents its difficulties of distance and enemy opposition to overcome. Island by island advance across the south-western Pacific may be a slow and costly process for beating Japan. Striking from China or down from the Aleutians presents the possibility of killing all Jap resistance by capturing the capital—but there are obstacles to attack here, too. If Admiral Halsey's forecast of victory in '43 is to be fulfilled, the world may yet see United Nations forces taking one or more of these roads to Tokyo.

Death-Dealing Bomb Made Harmless

The large death-dealing Nazi bomb shown here was made harmless by Army Bomb Disposal Units who risked their lives to handle it, before shipping it to Canada where Royal Canadian Engineers are trained in dealing with such missiles. The photo shows, left, Brigadier E. G. Weeks, M.C. Deputy Chief of the General Staff, and Lt.-Col. E. C. Thorne, Director of Engineer Development, examining the bomb while an explanation of the device is inscribed upon the board in the immediate background, while the bomb was displayed at Ottawa. The Canadian Bomb Disposal School trains men of all three armed forces in handling unexploded bombs.

Builders, working with Army engineers, constructed the Pentagon in 14 months — ordinarily a seven-year job.

U-Boat "Kidnaps" Torpedoed Ship's Skipper

Debunker Peacocks DON'T LAY EGGS and ARE NOT VAIN

Peacocks do not ever lay eggs because they are the male members of the Peafowl. It is the peahen that lays the eggs. Because the peacock is so much more beautiful than the peahen, we seldom hear much about her and almost never see pictures of her. The idea that the peacock is vain and cannot lay eggs is a common mistake. The peacock is a male bird and the peahen is a female bird. The peacock is the more beautiful of the two and the peahen is the one that lays the eggs.

Our Boarding House

BY THE BEARD OF THE PHAROAH!

WHICH COULD THAT GLIMPSE THAT BEARD? SURELY IN THE POCKET OF MY MAN'S COAT WAS A BEARD!

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—Be Sure to Marry for Love, Never for Money Women Who Are Uncertain of Their Own Desires Often Bring Woe to Others; Husband Won't Eat Liver

DEAR MISS DIX: My father died many years ago, leaving me money. I have two small children—my sister and myself—and no money. My mother died herself very peacefully and comfortably, even that of having her own friends and played to give me sister and myself college educations and every advantage that she could. As a result both my sister and I hold fine positions.

But my mother has grown fanatic on the subject and that is that both of us make brilliant marriages. We must marry into aristocratic families who are wealthy. The personal qualities of the men and women we are supposed to marry and our feelings for them she does not even take into consideration.

Now I have found a girl with whom I am in love who is sure in every way and who I am sure is the ONE for me, but she is from the wrong side of the tracks and my mother is wild at the thought of my marrying her. She says that if I will be throwing away myself and wasting all the sacrifices she has made and all that she has worked for. She reminds me of all I owe her and argues me of ingratitude.

My sister has gone through the same experience, and her life has been clouded by Mother breaking off her marriage to a splendid man whose only drawback was that he did not belong to the "right" side of the tracks. What I feel is that I am a dilemma. I adore my mother. We appreciate all she has done for us. Do we see her or do we see her as a puzzle?

MORE THAN MONEY

Answer: The marriage that you want to have is the one that you want. I do not know. Apparently she was not, as she said it was her father's money that she wanted. But you have no cause of complaint against your second wife, and it seems to me that you would be giving her a very real reason for her leaving you when she is doing everything in her power to make you happy.

Inasmuch as your children are in their teens and are at an age when they have a right to choose which one of their parents they will wish, why cannot you arrange that they divide their time between you and their mother? That is the way the matter is decided in almost all divorce cases in which there are children.

If the children love you, they will want to live with you, and your mother cannot object to their living with you. It is the decision that she is making that is the trouble. If she is a selfish woman, she is a selfish woman in her ways, who would not let her children live with her. It is hard to patch up a marriage that has been torn to shreds, and it seems to me that you would be better off if you did go back to Number One.

MEAT RATION

DEAR MISS DIX: What that meat ration does is that it gives me a good meal and a good dinner. I have a problem on my hands. My husband says he will be the leader of anything. He says God never intended it. I never did think he would be at home, but I have lived. My husband says God gave everyone their own individual brains to use and if he had not expected them to use them he would have put all the brains in one man's head. And the more I think of it, the more I think he is right. What do you think?

Answer: You are missing a lot of good food when you pass up the brains on your nose, true, but you are also missing a lot of good food when you pass up the brains on your nose. I have lived. My husband says God gave everyone their own individual brains to use and if he had not expected them to use them he would have put all the brains in one man's head. And the more I think of it, the more I think he is right. What do you think?

Care of Stove Can Cut Food Waste Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELROD

How my mother ever takes care of twice baffles the parents who is overcome by the responsibilities of one child. She sees that every minute in her day seems to be consumed with duties and she cannot imagine how a mother manages who has such a daunting of the same tasks.

While I have had no personal experiences with twins—all of my life having come single—I have been calling the experiences of parents of twins for many years. And it has been conviction of mine that one does not need two schedules for twins, but just the same schedule put into action one half hour apart.

This one would begin the day by waking one twin at 6 o'clock, the next one at 8:30 and proceed through the day ending with bed-times at 6 and 8:30. Then at no one time would both children be screaming for attention which it might be impossible to give simultaneously.

The ceremony of bathing and feeding need not consume more than 30 minutes. If one child is not sleeping, reduce heat until baby is asleep. If one child is not sleeping, reduce heat until baby is asleep. If one child is not sleeping, reduce heat until baby is asleep.

It is literally impossible for any mother however devoted to spend as much time fondling and handling twins as she might one child. This should be no detriment to the babies if they get loving attention when bathed and when changed and thus develop a sense of the affectional love of their mother.

Most babies could be with much less handling than they get. Because most twins are smaller than single children at birth they should be treated to some of the same precautions used with smaller than 7-pound-at-birth babies. The use of a mask when attending the babies, merely insures that no unreasonable infections will be spread by attendants.

The effort to keep them especially warm as they begin to heat rapidly, would be necessary with twins. If covers are not made to dress them up to show them off, however proud the parent may be of them.

Small babies are made nervous and irritable by too much handling, the clothing should be of the very simplest and no attempt should be made to dress them up to show them off, however proud the parent may be of them.

With such a schedule and a determination to give them only the opportunity to grow and thrive without undue demands being made upon them, twins need not be twice as difficult as a single baby to rear in health and happiness.

Our friend, "The First Six Weeks" also contains information relative to the tiny or premature infant. It may be had by sending 10 cents to Myrtle Meyer Elrod in care of this newspaper.

Next, pat on a little face powder until your eyes are covered. A little vaseline on the eyelids will add to the gleam in your eyes.

Parents can produce enough food to meet all special needs and still give all the people in this country good diets, says an informed food official. "I doubt if they can much longer produce extra amounts to be wasted in kitchens. It is as important to save a pound of food as to produce one," he adds.

Much food can be wasted through cooking techniques. Your kitchen range can be made less effective through careless treatment. To prevent kitchen waste, study the following advice prepared by experts of the Bureau of Home Economics.

In health, the drainage process is equal to the task imposed upon it and effective elimination is one of the functions within the power of the organism. Under normal conditions, the continual throwing out of waste exactly balances the amount formed. Auto-intoxication is then not possible and only occurs after the eliminative processes fail to take care of the toxins as they form.

Relief of auto-intoxication must necessarily depend upon clearing the blood of its accumulated toxins and returning it to a pure, clean state. It is very important that conversation be overcome if the patient is to remain entirely free from auto-intoxication.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 50 words. Address: McCoys Health Service, The McCoys Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.
